Distressing Accident.

Our entire sympathy is extended this week to Mr. and Mrs. R. Howard in the loss of their little girl Dorothy, who died at the local hospital on Monday under most distressing circumstances. The little girl, who was not quite two years of age, was playing in a barn where she discovered and ate some gopher poison, which had apparently been shaken down from a high shelf. A little three-year-old sister first drew her mother's attention to Dorothy's condition, and immediately after the seriousness of the case being realized, the little tot was rushed into Bow Island and medical assistance at once secured. Everything, however, proved unavailing, and death took place soon after admission into the hospital. The distressing nature of the case, and the well-known fondness of the parents for their little daughter, whom they almost idolized, was responsible for the gathering at the funeral on Tuesday of a very large number of sympathizers, whose sympathy with and respect for the distressed father and mother was most manifest.

A service was held previous to the interment, in the Methodist church, at which the Rev. Chas. Hinton, assisted by Mr. Ward, officiated.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Howard desire to express their sincere thanks for the kindness and sincere sympathy shown them by all in their recent and sad bereavement.

Average first year depreciation of the Ford Car is $125 as against $250 to $400 for practically any of the lower priced cars.

It is difficult to set any definite figure for the depreciation of an automobile. So much depends on the condition of the individual car at the end of the season.
The average price paid for used cars in the $1000-or-less class at any time during the first year is about $250 to $400 less than the first cost. But the average used Ford sells very quickly for $125 less than the purchase price.
Compare the Ford depreciation cost of about $10 a month with the probable $30 or more a month that the other kind will cost you. Which is the better investment?

THE BEST GAME

There's a joy in playing cricket on a sunny summer's day.

But you must avoid the wicket and not hit and paid away.

When the stormy autumn weather

comes the best game to play.

And you put the banding leather

on the ball and take toll.

But there's just one game that gives points to all the rest.

Other games do not of season. Scoring

never, that's one reason

Why we love our Scouting better and it's easily the best.

Other games may make you clever in one special sort of way.

But no other game can teach a boy

Life's games to ever play.

Every game has its interest, played

in it is sure to fall—

One who finds you suffering, that's

Why Scouting's king of all.

And there's always its interest and Fun.

And there's always something new,

something due to learn and

Something done to do still better.

That's why Scouting is the best game.

So we'll give three cheers for Scouting

For we've tested well its

game.

We have proved beyond all doubting

It's the finest game of earth.

All who wear our badge are brothers

For we're playing a brotherly game.

Playing straight and helping others

So we'll play and help them.

SHORT FROCKS DEMAND SMART SHOES

*The Trimmed
Sports Shoe
Matches the Sweater*

Cutwork on Oxford Lines

Strapped Slippers for the Fastidious Dancer

IT IS reasoning in a circle to ascertain which is the cause of the other, the short skirts or the shoes. Are skirts short to show the new footwear, or is the new footwear particularly attractive because the skirts are short? Certain it is, whichever way you look at it, that they go together, and spring finds women wearing better looking shoes than they have for some time. The extremes of footwear have had their day with the first influx of fancy shoe styles, and you will now find a more conservative line of footwear being shown for the smartly gowned woman.

The sensible walking boot with Cuban heel, in tan calfskin, is here shown in its finest guise. Perforations at either side of the front lacing, across the not too blunt toe and around the top of the vamp make it something more than a merely comfortable shoe to be slipped on for comfort.

High shoes will be worn by many women all summer, especially when they come in such attractive styles as the high laced pair of washable kid. The laced shoe is the favorite, as in the very high shoe it is more likely to give a neat ankle appearance than the buttoned variety. Notice the very high French heel on these white shoes. Heels will be higher than ever on dress boots.

A certain type of glorified oxford is being launched for afternoon and dress wear. It shows an elaborate cutwork pattern in brogue leather like that pictured, also in white and black patent leather. It is necessary to wear contrasting stockings with these low shoes to bring out the design. No woman without an extensive shoe supply should attempt a novelty like this, though they are in perfectly good taste. Combinations of white and tan kid are very pretty and extremely stylish. The low shoes pictured show white kid with tan vamp, quarter and heel. Some high shoes use the same combination, with bottom of tan leather and tops of white, although this is one of the very few two-toned shoes countenanced by fashion this season, the preference going to the one-toned shoe. The pumps may reverse the leather combination, making the vamp and heel of white.

Sports shoes are receiving great attention from the artistic point of view. You may now match almost any staple sweater coloring in the trimmings of the low-heeled sports oxford of white buckskin, with its sole of rubber or elkskin. The latter is much lighter weight than rubber and wears equally well. If you can afford it, you will have a pair of bright sports shoes to match every sweater or sports costume you possess. If you cannot, you will stick to all-white or all-black or all-brown.

Evening slippers show little change of cut, unless it is a tendency to a higher cut, extremely close-fitting slipper. If a dancer has trouble in keeping her slippers on her feet, she will do well to adopt a pair of these slippers with straps which hold the shoe snugly and artistically over the ankle.

Recruits of Canada continue to spread the report in the United States that conscription is inevitable here, and that Americans, if they come into this country, will be made to serve in the war. It would appear from the evidence that has been gathered in the neighboring republic that these absurd statements have found quite general credence, and that they are having a deterrent effect on immigration. As is generally known, Canada is trying to get men in the States for £500 and other work, but it is almost impossible to secure them, as they have got the impression that they will be liable to military service if they come to this country. The obvious reason the American press, while it is not active in spreading this false and damaging rumor, is not leading its influence to correct it and the fear is gaining ground that unless an aggressive advertising policy is undertaken by the Dominion authorities the movement of settlers and workers to the nation will be interfered with to a serious extent.

Those who are striving to do harm to Canada as using the agitators of certain conscription faddists to their ends. They of course, disregard the pledges of Sir Robert Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, that there will be no conscription, and they quote from some of the conscriptionists in order to give color to their malicious campaign.

Perhaps, if on this side of the line, we were to publish our "No Conscription" policy more frequently and more forcibly, and were to refrain from giving the extremists space in our columns, we might rob some of our Hun enemies of what they are using for ammunition.

Last week we looked in a neighboring newspaper, expecting to see an account of how a young man had gone wrong. Not a line about the young man could be found. A broken hearted wife or relative had gone to the editor and asked him to say nothing.

and the tears had won the promise of him. We have gone through the same thing ourselves many times. An editor is human; he has his likes and dislikes, he loves and he hates; his strength between love and duty is that of an average citizen. We are in the same case in particular. We had to let a certain rage go by because a big-headed man jumped on us and called us a coward for so doing. A short time afterwards the shadow fell across his threshold and he came running and begging us to say nothing. "Yes," we replied, "but don't you remember the time you called us a coward for keeping still?" "I know," he replied, "but I was wrong; it is different now." And we listened to him, but there are things an editor cannot suppress. There are other things we can forget with propriety. As far as we are concerned, we would rather lessen the grief of a parent than throw out a morsel for gossiping people to feed upon. We'd rather wipe the tears from the eyes of a mother than have "nausea" enough to join the heartless crowd of flying tongues and sink the iron deeper into her tender soul. So when in this neighboring paper we failed to find what we wanted, we made no comment. But deep down in our own heart we admired that editor and thought more of him, because he had a heart that was tender and he would rather listen to the pines of a weeping public than to the sob of a broken-hearted mother and sister.

The above is from a country paper in Oregon and it tells exactly as it is known to every country newspaperman who is known by all his patrons. It is different with the editor of the big city paper who is practically unknown to the thousands of his readers. He is seldom appealed to concerning the suppression of news matter that might reflect on a patron. But with a small paper it is different. Its editor is asked almost weekly to "say nothing about" such and such a matter and unless he heeds the appeal, he is hard-hearted and brutal. Even those who never spend a cent with the paper will expect to be favored every time they write a note to the editor as we are concerned we get locally tired of this "favoring by suppression" business, but we continue to do it—probably for the reason that we still have a heart.

Foremost.

A significant event in the history of this three or four year old town took place when the new Methodist Church was opened on Sunday with a full house. From the opening of the church and with that future the church should have much to do. Church work at Foremost has been very serious.

On May 21 (next Sunday) is to be known as U. F. A. Sunday. At the last annual meeting of the United Farmers of Alberta, a resolution was passed setting apart one Sunday in the year on which the affairs of the rural communities would be taken up in the church. The Presbyterians agreed to start the same Sunday as Farmers' day.

Next Sunday, in the country, the farmers and churches will deal with the rural question from a religious standpoint. The churches of the cities have also signified their willingness to co-operate along this line.

On May 21 at Red Deer a motion was passed expressing their desire to co-operate with the U. F. A., in observing next Sunday as a day especially for farmers with regard to their social, industrial and religious life.

Following is a copy of the resolution:—

"Resolved, that this meeting of the archdeaconry of Red Deer desire to co-operate in every possible way with the U. F. A., in observing Sunday, May 21, to improve the blessings of God upon the life and labors of the farmers of Alberta."

The motion was moved by Rev. H. N. Fian, of Red Deer, and seconded by Rev. M. W. Holden, of Miramichi.

by handicapped owing to the lack of a place in which to preach. With the great crop of last year, came enthusiasm to build and within six months of the first proposal the edifice was completed. For this result much credit is due to the untiring efforts of the young pastor on the field, Rev. E. J. Staley.

The new building is a substantial and pleasing structure, 40 x 30 ft. in size. The total cost including painting, bell and inside fixtures is about $2300. Of this amount a large proportion has been raised in cash and it is expected that with another good crop the church will be free of debt within a year.

The delivery and opening services were conducted by Rev. A. M. Tuttle, chairman of the district. His able and appropriate sermons were greatly appreciated by the large congregations present. On Easter Monday the Ladies Aid provided a chicken supper which was followed by a concert. The proceeds for Sunday and Monday were over $400. The opening services were continued on Sunday April 20th when Rev. Chas. Bishop of Bow Island was the preacher and on May 7th was favored by a visit from Rev. A. Barnes—Superintendent of Missions.

It Isn't Your Town—It's You.

If you want to live in the kind of a town.

That's the kind of a town you like. You needn't slip your clothes in a bag.

And start on a long, long hike. You'll find somewhere what you left behind.

For there's nothing that's really new. It's a knock at yourself when you knock your town.

It isn't your town—it's you.

Real towns are not made by man afraid.

Let somebody else get ahead: When everyone works and nobody shirks.

You can raise a town from the dead. And if while you make your personal stake.

Your neighbor can make one too. Your town will be what you want to see.

May 21st will be U.F.A. Sunday.

Taking the Census.

Preparations for the taking of the census of the three prairie provinces, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta by the Dominion government have been now well started. The two provinces to the east have been working on the question for some time, and Alberta had been steadily making preparations since April. The commission appointed here has been working on the south district, between Lethbridge and Calgary, appointing enumerators for each district of every four or five townships. The commission is now at Regina, whence he will

Arbor Day.

The educational authorities in nearly every province of Canada proclaim an Arbor Day, for which special exercises are prescribed. Interesting programmes, including tree-planting, are carried out.

The planting of trees and shrubs and their protection and care is a feature of nature study well worth the attention of all school principals and teachers. Too many of our schools have a neglected and deserted appearance, an index of the character of those responsible for them. Nothing will overcome this drawback more easily or with less expense than the improvement of the school grounds. Trees, flower beds, borders and climbing vines add to the school a home-like and attractive appearance, causing it and its teachers to be remembered with pleasure by the pupils in after years.

Arbor Day in Alberta was fixed for last Friday.
